Van den Blink Withdraws from Race, Leaving Democrats with Slot to Fill

Nelson van den Blink announced this week that she is withdrawing as Democratic candidate for mayor of the Borough. She had never been a formally-designated candidate, but she had declared several weeks ago that she wanted the job.

"I have decided to withdraw my candidacy," she said in a statement, "because I want to devote all my energies to the work of the Council in this crucial year for Princeton Borough."

She was out of town at press-time and not available for amplification. She is now serving her second term as a member of Borough Council and the term has two more years to run.

"It makes life more interesting," was the observation of Walter Bliss, co-ordinator of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization's recruiting committee. "We all very much regret her decision, and I do wish she were running."

The Democrats have until Thursday, April 26, to file for the June 5th Primary. Republican Mayor Robert W. Cawley has already announced that he will seek a fourth term.

Nuclear Reactor in Plainsboro Area Was Decommissioned 3 Years Ago

No, there isn't any installation around Princeton which could cause a nuclear "event" like the one on Three Mile Island near Harrisburg, PA.

Residents with long memories, however, are recalling Industrial Reactor Laboratories, a Plainsboro installation completely decommissioned about three years ago. its building is about half a mile east of the Schalks Road railroad crossing.

The laboratores were established in the mid-1960s by Columbia University and the University of Pennsylvania, later joined by Rutgers, to provide laboratory facilities to industry. According to Joseph Morris, radiation physicist with the Bureau of Radiation Protection of New Jersey, the installation probably just wasn't big enough to be economical—"like a toy."

In any event, it passed gradually into its current white-elephant status. At present, Mr. Morris says, only a small Rutgers office is on the site.

There is no reaction of any radioactive material, he says, no production of any radiation. All the core elements were removed and probably shipped to the licensed waste disposal site at Barnwood, SC.

It was only a five megawatt installation, Mr. Morris says, a laboratory creating radio-active substances. Generator installations, like Three Mile Run, are in the 750 to 1000 megawatts range.

For a time, Cambridge Nuclear used the lab facilities to make radio pharmaceuticals. Dr. Henry Powsner, radiology specialist at the Princeton

Hospital's Plans for Further Growth among Those Requiring Detailed Study by Town in Near Future

Just as growth sometimes comes in spurts, so the planning for growth sometimes links many elements together all at once. It was that way in Princeton this week.

- The Medical Center outlined its hopes before a work session of the Planning Board Monday night and gave the board's land-use committee a sheaf of new problems to examine.

- Hospital plans are closely linked to the plans, temporarily frustrated, of architect J. Robert Hillier to remodel the old Culligan office building next to Valley Road, into professional offices, possibly for doctors.

- Parking is Mr. Hillier's chief problem. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Monday that he hopes the Borough's new parking survey (its fourth) will start next week. A new contract was signed with consultants Venturi and Rauch on Monday.

- Valley Road's owners, the school board, are another problem for Mr. Hillier. Working on long-range plans required by the state, the board must ponder many problems related to its buildings, including Valley Road.

John Kauffman, Medical Center president, named Franklin, Witherspoon, Henry and Harris as streets delineating the area he would like the Planning Board to designate for "Hospital Use." That way, the institution could build and remodel "as of right," with regulations relating only to such things as height.

He told the board that Township zoning boards of a decade ago indicated that the hospital could build as high as ten stories, and he said plans for the Corner House lot call for a four-story doctors' office building.

Limiting growth to the area outlined by Mr. Kauffman is closely linked to building height. If a wall, so to speak, is around that zone, the only way the hospital can go is up.

Perhaps, the board pondered, it should designate some areas around the Center for medical arts buildings, so that doctors can be close to the hospital. But which areas?

The hospital's neighborhood, says Planning Board member Jerome Rose, is "fragile and vulnerable" as a residential area. Medical uses tend to draw traffic.

Mr. Kauffman reminded the board that in a sense, the hospital was there first. Its initial buildings were almost isolated from the rest of the community, and houses were built around it, on Harris and Henry, over the years, he said.

The land-use committee will examine two other hospital-owned sites: "Merwick" on Bayard Lane, and Princeton House on Mt. Lucas Road as it explores possible "hospital use" or medical arts use areas.

Mr. Hillier went to the Township Zoning Board Wednesday to ask what parking he'd need. Office use is permitted. He had appeared the night before at the school board meeting and has been negotiating for spaces in the south Valley Road lot next to Culligan. The school board gave him no definite answer.

Princeton Township, holding title to the Community Park pool across from Valley Road, was "noticed" as a property-owner, and Mayor Josie Hall told the Zoning Board the municipality is "seriously concerned" about traffic and parking in the area, especially about reports that people still park on streets, even though the hospital's garage is now finished.

Mrs. Hall spoke as mayor, but she had not discussed the matter with others on Township Committee, it was learned.

School board member Rosalind Frisch, who explained she was speaking for herself and not as a board member, protested that she'd never heard of the Hillier request until the night before.

(Later, Mrs. Frisch reported, school board president Winthrop Pike told her, "it wasn't very smart" to speak at the Zoning Board meeting.)

Mr. Hillier told the Zoning Board he had asked Mr. Kauffman if he could use hospital garage space and was told "no." Monday night, Mr. Kauffman repeated that the garage is for people using the medical complex, and not the general public.

"We granted the hospital a variance to get cars off the streets," declared Zoning chairman William O'Shaughnessy. "We hear now that the garage isn't being used. Why can't the hospital provide spaces? I want their reasons—a clear, written statement."

The garage, incidentally, is taxable, since it's used for the Medical Arts Building and its doctors' offices, says Township Assessor Stuart Robson.

The Zoning Board rejected Mr. Hillier's request "without prejudice." He's back on the agenda for April 25, but Edmund Wilson, of the Hillier firm, said this week, "It seems as though there is a good deal of opposition at the Zoning Board. It's not our intention to create a controversy and we don't want to force anything on anybody."

Also last week, the school board heard the United Way ask to rent office space in Valley Road. The board proposes $7.50 a square foot, or $11,520 a year for two former classrooms and 11 parking spaces. Agreement is expected in about two weeks.

Parking at Valley Road brings a gleam to everyone's eye, but the Township is the first school tenant and has a 10-space daytime visitors guarantee.

New Jersey requires a long-range facilities master plan from school districts by July 1. Ronald Novak (business administrator) and William Karch (facilities) have been gathering data for two years on age and size of buildings, sewer lines, the number of births in Borough and Township compared to the number of children in first grade six years later, tax-exempt land, where children live and so on.

In late May, Novak and Karch will incorporate into their work the studies of the board's long-range committee (Joan Doig, chairman; Dale Madden, board secretary William Evans, Rosemary Woodfield, Sally MacFarlane, Christine Carter - Brinkley, Alan Rosenthal, Dwight Jaffee and Nancy Myers).

"We're scouring the state to find out how other districts deal with declining enrollments," Mrs. Doig explains. "Close schools? other uses for schools? rent the space?

'Playhouse,' in Default on Its Lease, Closes; Reopening Hoped for but Outlook Is Clouded

"The ball is in their court – they can either re-open or remain in default."

"They" is the Sameric theatre chain, which closed down the Playhouse after the last show Saturday night. The speaker is Carl Schafer, financial vice-president and treasurer of Princeton University, and Sameric's landlord.

So far, the Garden theatre, also part of Sameric, is still open.

The Marquee Is Blank

Movie-goers will have a third summer of Summer Cinema, again under the sponsorship of McCarter Theatre and the Arts Council of Princeton. The ten-week season will present films in Kresge Auditorium.

"Moviegoers," the citizens group that rallied considerable support in protest of Sameric's long, long, long, long runs at Princeton's two theatres, is in a wait-and-see posture. Betty Fussell, its prime mover, explained this week that she has been away from Princeton for a year and now has other full-time committments.

Another Chain Likely. Mr. Schafer says the University and Palmer Square, Inc., are undecided about how soon they should hunt for a new operator. He acknowledged that it would probably be another chain. PSI does not want to go back to those good old days when it ran a two-theatre chain on its own, golden though those days now seem in the eyes of Princeton's movie fans.

Sameric has defaulted on its lease, Mr. Schafer said. The company hasn't paid its rent for March or April, and hasn't paid the insurance or the real estate allocation tax. Sameric's lease with PSI calls for payment to PSI of a portion of the real estate tax on the Playhouse property. The Garden is equally deficient, Mr. Schafer said.

"Talks with Sameric are currently unproductive," he stated, "There is no immediate determination of the dilemma and for the immediate future, the Playhouse will remain dark."

Medical Center, recalls that the Center and the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad worked with Cambridge Nuclear in safety drills. According to their license, Dr. Powsner explains, it was necessary to assume the worst possible accident, and he recalls that the company had "very sophisticated" descriptions of the accidents that might occur.

"It was an event-free installation," is Dr. Powsner's comment.

What's the gross figure for running an elementary school? What's the smallest number of kids you can havem abd still deliver the services.?

"Nothing now shows an incredible upsurge of school population, but we must be most cautious not to predict a continuing decline."

In the Hillier - United Way discussions, many wanted to wait for the long-range report before making decisions about Valley Road. Mrs. Doig – and she will remain on the committee after she goes off the board – says the group is giving no strong recommendations because citizens seem to want community groups to have access to school rooms.

Soon the long-range committee must decide whether to submit a May 15 interim report. Incidentally, other districts hired consultants; Princeton is doing it entirely in-house, at Superintendent Paul Houston's suggestion. And Mayor Cawley, his heart not wholly in it – "but the consultants want it, so what can you do?" – still has hopes for the new parking survey.

"Our weakness in parking has been focusing on people now coming to town, not on the ones who don't come because parking is so bad. If the survey can come up with the number of parking deficiencies we have, in a study fine-grained and defensible to the people who will nit-pick it, then it's worth the time and money."

BUS TO THE MALLS?

More Talk. 'Round and 'round the Outer Loop goes, maybe side-tripping soon to Quaker Bridge and Mercer malls. Neither governing body has control over the state's Consumer Operating Agency decision (hearing is next Tuesday), but both have invited citizen comment.

Last Thursday Borough Council -- Richard Macgill abstaining ("Why vote? It's not our decision") – endorsed the extension after two hours of audience comment.

"I will fight this(" stated bus pioneer William Starr. "We need public transportation here, in this town. Because some students, part-time citizens, want to go to the malls..."

Outer Loop ridership is meagre; adding the malls would transfuse more passengers and help keep it alive for people within Princeton who do use it, said Transportation Commission chairman John McGee.

Unfair Comparison. The real hazard to merchants, protested Ralph Hulit Jr., is all the talk about Princeton's high prices. They aren't higher than the malls,' he said, although some small stores may carry cheaper merchandise.

"If you don't like it, you can cut it off," suggested Walter Coan, who described himself as a citizen of Princeton for 75 years.

"I beat you, I'm 80," said Emma Epps. "I turned in my driver's license so I need the bus to get around. You never know how it will work until you try."

Wendy Benchley, Planning Board member, asked whether Quaker Bridge's management had been asked to help support a bus.

To Elizabeth Hulter's request that the Borough start a park-and-ride system from Jadwin lot to the center of town, Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, a Princeton resident, laughed "Once burned, twice shy!" referring to an abortive effort to get people to park-and-ride from Jadwin.

Albert Toto Jr., head of the Princeton Merchants Association, repeated his statement that merchants will not oppose extension of the bus route.

BRURERE'S HILL SCENE

Of Tuesday Collision. Two cars collided on Rte. 206 at Brurere's Hill at 7:17 Tuesday morning, bringing injury to both drivers.

Township police said that they have not been able to talk to the victims yet and their investigation is continuing. They identified them as Ralph E. Dosher of Mapleshade and Richard Novatkoski, 89 Clarksville Road, Trenton.

According to the preliminary report of Ptl. Howard Sweeney, the Dosher car was heading down the hill toward Princeton; the Novatkoski car, traveling south toward Lawrenceville, apparently crossed the center line and struck the left rear of the Dosher car, spinning it around and forcing it off the roadway.

After impact, the Novatkoski car continued on and rammed a utility pole head on. Both drivers were taken to Princeton Medical Center and admitted. Police said there were no passengers in either car.

A spokesman at the Medical Center reported Tuesday morning that the extent of the injuries had not been determined. Mr. Novatkoski was admitted to the intensive care unit, she said, while Mr. Dosher was still in the emergency room undergoing tests.

Misses Brake, Hits Garage. Her attention diverted by another driver who shouts at her, June B. Cooke, 204 Washington Road, Penns Neck, started to hit her brakes but her foot missed and depressed the gas pedal instead.

Her 1976 sedan jumped the curb, crossed a lawn at 246 Western Way and then crashed into a closed garage door on the same property. Mrs. Cooke was not injured in the Friday afternoon mishap and there were no charges.

She told Sgt. David Potts that she had just pulled out from the stop sign at Western Way and was turning left onto Harrison when a driver, traveling in the opposite direction, yelled at her.

COOKING OIL IGNITES

In State Road Home. When cooking oil ignited Saturday afternoon in an apartment kitchen, it led to a fire in the home of Mary and Andrew Conrad, 237 State Road.

Ptl. David Funk, responding to a call from Mrs. Conrad, saw flames through a ground-level window in front of the house and requested a general alarm at 1:58.

Ptl. Funk took two patrol car extinguishers and entered the house where the fire was confined to the kitchen area. As he opened a door leading to an apartment rented by Maureen Rapp, he was greeted with heat and dense smoke. He closed the door to contain the fire.

Approximately 40 firemen from all three volunteer companies arrived and quickly put out the blaze. Although the fire was contained to the one room, there was heavy damage to the kitchen cabinets, walls, ceiling and stove. There were no injuries.

Budget Passes

Princeton voters – some of them, anyway – went to the polls Tuesday and approved the school budget by a margin of more than 3-1. The current expense budget passed by 629 to 188; capital improvements by 618 to 193.

In one of the smallest turnouts in memory, 4.6 percent of the Borough's 6,207 voters stepped into the voting booth and 6.4 percent of the Township's 8,375 voters recorded their choice. The overall community percentage was 5.6 percent. Last year, 7.5 percent of the voters cast their ballots.

Ann McGoldrick, Joseph Moore and Artis Phillips were not opposed for the board. Nancy Bruce received three write-in votes and Dorothy Meyerhofer -- whose husband is already on the board – received one. In the Borough, outgoing board member Joan Doig received one.

Ms. Rapp told Ptl. Funk that she had been cooking and the oil caught fire. She tried to locate the fire extinguisher but couldn't find it. Since if was an oil fire, she said she did not try to use water and left the house. She added that she also tried to phone the police but the telephone was not working.

Mrs. Conrad called police at 1:56 and had the house evacuated.

6 BREAK-INS REPORTED

In Township. Township police reported six break-ins last week, while Borough police listed four.

Jewelry valued at $430 and $75 cash were stolen from a master bedroom of a Magie Apartment residence off Faculty Road. Also taken were miscellaneous items valued at $161.40.

Police said the apartment had been ransacked. Entry was gained through an unlocked rear door. Sgt. John Hammond and Princeton University security are continuing the investigation.

In an entry of a Longview Drive home reported Sunday evening, $134.50 in cash and $25 in miscellaneous items were stolen. There were no signs of forced entry.

A ground level window at the rear of a Snowden Lane home was broken early last week, allowing the intruder to reach in and unlock it. A portable television set is missing from a master bedroom, police said.

A Moore Street home was entered Thursday between 9:30 in the morning and 9:28 at night. Taken was a pearl-handled pen knife with a two-inch blade and between $60 and $80 kept in envelopes.

Police report the thief first pulled open a locked rear door leading to a sun porch. From there, he broke a 12-by-12-inch window to unlock a door leading to the living room. The house was searched.

A Linden Lane home was entered between 6:45 Saturday morning and 12:45 Monday morning by a thief who knocked out a front door window pane to reach in and unlock the door.

Police said an upstairs bedroom was ransacked and a man's wallet containing $60 was taken. Sgt. Samuel Bianco and Ptl. William Potts are investigating.

A New York City resident lost her pocketbook while visiting a Hartley Avenue home.

Police report the victim left her pocketbook on a chair in a bedroom. The bedroom window was open but screened. The screen was pushed to one side and the pocketbook removed. It was later recovered in an open field behind the Harrision Street housing tract, minus $50 and identification.

In the Borough, a window of an unlocked front porch was jimmied to enter a Linden Lane home during the weekend.

A change purse containing 20 silver dollars and 14 half dollars was taken from a bedroom dresser and two bottles of liquor from a china closet. Nothing else waa taken, police said.

An Elm Road home waa completely ransacked but police report they don't know what was taken because the owners are away. The entry was discovered Sunday afternoon at 3:55 by Ptl. David Alston, who noticed a broken window over a garage.

There were two campus entries. Between 9:t5 and 11:45 Thursday night, a student's room in Campbell Hall was entered through an unlocked window and $33 taken from a dresser drawer.

Two room keys and $5 to $10 in change were taken from a room in Pyne Hall where a door had been forced open. Police were notified of the entry on Monday.

LIMIT IMPOSED

On Trucking to Dump. Solid waste dumped at Princeton's River Road landfill has increased so wildly in the past three months that the Sewer Operating Committee, suspecting out-of-town dumpers, has clamped a limit of 18 tons on trucks allowed into the dump.

The limit requires the approval of the two governing bodies that comprise the Sewer Operating Committee, and will be on Township Committee's agenda for this Wednesday (8 p.m., Township Hall).

In December, employees weighed in 33 percent more solid waste than in November; in January, 45 percent more and in February, 86 percent more.

Waste is weighed, compacted in the transfer station then hauled by Princeton trucks to an out of town site.

Other landfills in the area are being shut down, explained Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, and this may bring more trucks to Princeton. "We don't follow every truck that comes," he observed.

The problem isn't the size of Princeton's landfill but the amount of time it takes SOC personnel to process what's brought in.

"It's a very serious problem," Mr. Nini observed.

In other business, Committee will introduce an ordinance increasing the annual sewer rental rate by 14 percent: from $9.96 per 1,000 cubic feet of water used, to $11.43. This means the average Princeton family will pay $91.44 a year instead of $79.68. Elizabethtown Water has calculated the water usage of the average household as 8,000 cubic feet a year.

An operating surplus of $150,000 from last year has been retained by the Township as a credit, Mr. Nini said that without the surplus, the increase would have been even greater.

Townspeople are invited to discuss with Committee a proposed ordinance regulating the distribution of free circulation newspapers -- the so-called "litter" ordinance. The discussion is not a public hearing because no ordinance has been introduced. Committee would like to sound out community sentiment.

Committee will continue, in work session, its discussion of bus service to shopping malls and of cable television.

SQUAD TO SEEK FUNDS

For Daytime Help. "You have an emergency situation here," John Kauffman, administrator of Princeton Medical Center told a meeting of the Joint Committee on the First Aid and Rescue Squad last Wednesday at the Hospital.

"If a patient is unfortunate enough to have a coronary at 2 in the afternoon, you can't guarantee an immediate response," Mr. Kauffman added. The Joint Committee decided to recommend to the Township Committee and Borough Council that financing be found for two paid individuals to answer daytime calls. The details of the request are to be worked out at another meeting this Friday at 5:30 at the Squad House on Harrison Street.

Mr. Kauffman also pointed out it was "peculiar" that a committee dealing with the health and safety of the community should be lacking in representatives from the Medical Center. As now constituted, the Joint Committee consists of a Township and a Borough elected official, a resident of the Township and the Borough and two members of the First Aid and Rescue Squad.

All were appointed by the mayors of the two municipalities when the Joint Committee was set up last spring in response to a plea from Captain Ed Obert of the Rescue Squad for help in tackling Squad manpower and financial problems. After Wednesday's meeting, the mayors will also be asked to appoint Richard L. Barach, M.D., representing the Medical and Dental Staff and a representative as yet unnamed from the Administration of the Medical Center.

Funding a Problem. Finding funds for two paid people, whether a paramedic with 600 hours of advanced training or an emergency medical technician (EMT) with 100 hours or a combination of both, will not be easy. In both municipalities the 1979 budgets have been approved by the state and passed by Committee and Council. In the Township the budget came in just $153 under the caps limit imposed by the state.

Although a municipality can

SIGN TO GO? Nassau Savings' sign tells you the time and then just how chilly the April day is. What it can't tell is whether the Planning Board will let it be moved to Nesseu's new building, a few feet west on Nassau. The sign, near Moore, is the only clock on Nassau until fer-away Bank Street, assuming you're driving west, and the only thermometer anywhere. Suburban Transit's clock feces Witherspoon and you could demage both neck and tender craning to read it from a westbound car.

get around the caps restrictions by bonding certain things like street improvements that used to come under operating expenses, thus freeing money for other things, it can not bond "anything that looks like a salary," according to Richard Woodbridge, chairman of the Joint Committee.

Mr. Woodbridge has been talking to County officials about a possible CETA grant, but the maximum amount allowed is $10,550, he says. The amount talked about in Wednesday's meeting was $25,000 to $30,000 to cover benefits and salaries for two people.

"I had thought the hospital would be able to provide more than just personnel," Mr. Woodbridge said. In response to a suggestion at Wednesday's meeting that the hospital run a separate fund drive for the Squad, Mr. Kauffman replied that the medical center was having difficulty keeping its own capital requiremeots up to date and could not run a second drive.

"My guess is we'll get those two people in the long term," Mr. Woodbridge said, but he thinks it will take the combined pooling of resources from CETA, the hospital, private funds as well as from the municipalities.

THEFT REPORT

Moped, Bikes, Coats Stoleo. A moped, three bikes and three coats were among items reported stolen last week by Borough police.

The orange moped, valued at $530, was taken Sunday from a garage of a Riverside Drive home by a thief who entered through an unlocked rear door to the garage.

Between 9 Sunday night and Monday morning, another unlocked garage on Riverside was entered and the intruder rifled through a parked car inside and then entered an office above the garage and rifled through desk drawers. Nothing was taken, police said.

A 10-speed, $100 blue bicycle was stolen between 11 Saturday night and 1 Sunday morning. The victim, a Township girl, told police she had locked it to a wooden post in front of the Garden Theatre.

Another blue 10-speed, valued at $110, was stolen Thursday evening from a garage on Horner Lane -- both the garage and the bike were unlocked, police said -- and a Chestnut Street resident last week told police that her daughter's yellow, 10-speed, valued at $100, had been taken from the front porch. It was unlocked.

The three coats, all women's khaki trench coats, were stolen from a dining room coat rack in the Alchemist & Barrister Restaurant on Witherspoon Street. The victims were all from the Princeton area, police said.

Forty dollars were stolen from a desk in Room S11 in the

"Crosstown 62" Will Serve Elderly with New Car

George Conover, head of Nassau Conover Motor Co., has donated another new car -- a four-door Ford Granada -- to "Crosstown 62," Princeton's taxi service for the elderly.

The Ford dealer gives "Crosstown" its only vehicle, providing a new car every two years. He is shown above with passenger Mrs. Walter Fleet, and driver Sandi Perone.

"Crosstown 62" charges 50 cents one way to whatever local destination the senior passenger requires, operating between 9 and 4 Mondays through Fridays. It's a popular service. Passengers should call at least two days in advance to book a ride, and sometimes two weeks' notice is needed. The telephone is 924-6162, and the dispatcher, Beth Kaplowitz, is on duty from 9 to 1.

Sandi Perone, the driver, helps with heavy packages, and lends an arm when the steps become steep. She also provides her own breadth of background and knowledge of the Princeton community because she was born and raised on Leigh Avenue and is married to a man who grew up on Witherspoon Street.

"I know most of the senior citizens I drive," she says. "In fact, Mrs. Fleet's husband was my English teacher in Princeton High!"

When the Perones' youngest child entered first grade this year, Mrs. Perone decided she wanted to go back to work, "something different" from the data processing and office work she'd done for many years.

"I love this job," she says, "many of my passengers just wouldn't be able to get out at all without Crosstown -- they'd be housebound. And all of them are so appreciative! I just love it..."

architecture building on the university campus, and there were two pocketbook thefts Monday at Princeton High School.

Police report a student left her pocketbook on the floor of the gym between 8:10 and 9 in the morning during which time someone stole her driver's license and a $34.80 paycheck.

In the afternoon between 2:30 and 2:45, another student left her purse sitting on the floor inside the front door near the office. Stolen, it was later found in the gym, minus the dollar it had contained.

$2,500 FINES LEVIED

Against Opthamologist, Assistant. Dr. Michael Weisberg of Opthamology Associates, 253 Witherspoon Street, and his part-time assistant, Rami Rosner, have agreed to pay civil penalties of $2,500 each, following charges by the Division of Consumer Affairs.

Mr. Rosner had been charged with allegedly practicing optometry without a license and with fitting patients with contact lenses without proper supervision from Dr. Weisberg.

Under a consent order, a portion of the penalty fee will be paid to Judith Baymiller and Richard Hall, both of whom had complained to the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs about the opthamology service they had received.

The charges were brought following their complaints and after two visits to Dr. Weisberg's office by state employees posing as patients in need of contact lenses. Pamela Mandel, deputy attorney general, reported that during both visits Mr. Rosner was not properly supervised by Dr. Weisberg.

According to the complaint, Mr. Rosner was allowed by Dr. Weisberg to interpret his contact lens prescriptions and to use optical devices to fit the lenses on a patient's eye. Under state law, only licensed optometrists are permitted to perform these duties.

In the consent order, Dr. Weisberg agreed not to allow Mr. Rosner to dispense contact lenses without a final examination by himself and he also agreed to examine each patient personalty in follow-up examinations.

WORKING TOWARD SEPTEMBER: That's when repair work on the Stony Brook Bridge on mercer Road may be completed. Workers, (left) began this week, assisted by Freeholder Barbara Sigmund and Township Committee member David Blair. "We have high hopes that Township Committee will be able to complete the new approaches to the bridge simultaneously with completion of the repairs," Freeholder Sigmund declared. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini says he hopes so, too. The approaches are now on the drafting-table being designed.

'NO-NAME' FINES

For Trenton Pair. Two Trenton residents, Efrain S. Berrios, 33, and Miguel A. Villanveva, 28, were stopped Saturday by Ptl. Randy Sutton at the Griggs Service Station, Witherspoon and Hulfish Streets, for operating a commercial vehicle with no name on the side.

As a result of a police investigation, Berrios was charged with operating a commercial vehicle with no identifying name, possession of under 25 grams of marijuana and contempt of court from an outstanding motor vehicle warrant from the Trenton police department. He was later released in $50 bail.

Villanveva was charged with possession of marijuana. Police added there were three motor vehicle warrants for his arrest from the Trenton police and a warrant from the Manalapan Township police department. He was later turned over to the Manalapan police.

Michael D. Boccanfuso, 22, 150 Linden Lane was arrested at 12:50 Sunday morning in the McCosh Circle area by Sgt. Michael Kopliner, who charged him with loitering while under the influence of alcohol.

Sgt. Kopliner had responded to a call from a McCosh Circle resident reporting a prowler in the area. Boccanfuso was released, pending his appearance in Township court.

APRIL FOOL?

On Student Withdrawal. It was either a hoax or April Fool. A flyer announcing a rally this Wednesday afternoon during which Princeton University students would march to the registrar's office and withdraw from the University in protest against University policies regarding South Africa, was distributed on campus and to newspapers Monday.

According to the campus newspaper, "The Daily Princetonian," the flyer was a hoax. Student members of the People's Front for the Liberation of Southern Africa do plan a boycott of regular classes and attendance at seminars related to South Africa in commemoration of the 11th anniversary this Wednesday of the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

JUVENILE, 12, CHARGED

With Shoplifting, A 12-year old Township youth has been charged by Township police with shoplifting three bags of candy worth 75 cents from a Princeton Shopping Center store.

Arrested Thursday morning by Sgt. David Potts, the youth was later released to the custody of his mother, pending further investigation by the Township juvenile officer.

A 16-year old Witherspoon Street youth has been arrested and charged as an unlicensed driver. He was stopped by Ptl. John Clausen on Guyot Avenue after being observed by the officer driving on Moore Street without lights.

In checking, police discovered the youth had a moped operator's license, the car he was driving was unregistered and its license plates were fictitious. He was later released to the custody of his mother, pending further action by a Mercer County juvenile court.

PHS Will Not Condone Unexcused Absences, Petrillo Says after 'Unauthorized' Ski Trip

If you're a Princeton High student and you want to take three weeks off to go to Hawaii because that'a the only time your Dad gets hia vacation, it'a up to you to square away your class assignments with your teacher. You're not automatically entitled to make up work and you could receive ao "F" for all the work you missed while you were away.

School board policy — and indeed state law — regarding "unexcused absences" haa beeo underlined by PHS Principal George Petrillo in the school's PTO Newsletter as a result of what he calls an "unauthorized ski trip" by a dozen or ao students.

"They were surprised, when they returned, to learn their trip was illegal," Mr. Petrillo said this week. "It was not a school trip. We felt it was time to remind parents of their responsibility, and of state law and school board policy."

Does this mean students can't take a couple of days off to visit colleges?

A Better Reason. "If a youngster says to a teacher, 'I'd like to visit three colleges and I'll be away such-and-such a time,' most teachers will say OK, and work out witb the youngster how to get his work done," Mr. Petrillo says, "but it is up to the teacher."

"And we do, here in Princeton, get youngsters whose families want to take them on school-year vacations," the principal added, "but you get a youngster who says, 'I'm going on a ski trip because I can afford it and you can't stop me,' well, that's different. It's discriminatory against other students, for one thing."

Mr. Petrillo said he met with the full faculty and with the cabinet of Student Council to explain the policy. He pointed out that the school board lists eight legal excuses for absence: sickness; sicknesa or death in tbe family; quarantine; necessary appearances in court; attendance at organized clinics; supervised school projects; remedial health treatment; religioua holidays.

In these cases, students are allowed to make up work and teachers must help them. All other situations are unexcused absences — which do not, by the way, call for punitive action and are not included in a students' record — which can draw an "F."

LET'S TALK ABOUT

WINTER INJURY

with Sem deTuro

Winter may be gone, but it has left in it's path the tell-tale signs of it's final frigid blast. Winter kill on broad-leaved evergreens has puzzled many gardeners who have experienced damage to established plantings.

Rhododendrons, Azaleas, Laurels and Hollies have been hit very hard. Flower buds have been killed, and leaves have turned brown and discolored. Gardeners who followed Woodwinds advice in January and sprayed their plants with an anti-dessicant may be better off than those who did not spray this protectant.

At this point there is not too much that can be done to help injured plants. Pruning back any foliage which was severely damaged, and fertilization at this time will help to revitalize the plants.

Some notes on pruning:

Shear evergreen leaves before new shoots emerge for a more natural look throughout the summer. Yews and Hemlocks may need a second pruning early in June to control size. The base of the hedge should always be wider than the top. branches at the base of a hedge will lose their leaves from lack of light if pruning is not done properly.

Prune shrubs that flower on current seasons' growth. Delay pruning of spring flowering shrubs until after bloom is over. Cut out several of the oldest stems at the soil line, and cut back some of the younger stems to encourage new growth.

EVENTS LISTED

For Library Week. National Library Week will continue to be observed at the Princeton Public Library through Saturday.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bonsall Strong, volunteers from the Friends of the Princeton Library are serving hot coffee and cookies at the front entrance to all who visit the Library from 10-11:30 each day. In addition, Library Director Robert Staples has announced a waiver of fines on all overdue library materials. They may be left at the counter or slipped through the book drop in the front of the building.

A showing of the film "Hans Christian Anderson" has been scheduled for this Wednesday at 3:30. This is a 104 minute color film suitable for ages 6 and up. Tickets are required and are available at the desk.

The Friends of the Princeton Public Library is a membership group that anyone may join. The organization raises funds through contributions for the use of the Library and provides other services to increase the importance of the Library in the life of the community.

BAKE SALE SET

By Windsor Squad Cadets. The Cadets of the Twin W First Aid Squad of West Windsor Township are planning a bake sale for Saturday from 10 to 1 at the Acme Market in Princeton Junction at the corner of Alexander Road and Route 571. All types of baked goods will be available.

The Cadets are undertaking this fund-raising activity in order to buy their own uniforms for first aid competitions. As part of their training, the Cadets participate with other Cadet corps in competitions in which they have to solve first aid problems. This gives the Cadets an opportunity to see how they would react in an emergency situation and the added incentive of winning awards for their proficiency.

SQUAD SEEKS $80,000

For New Building. The Plainsboro Rescue Squad, which provides emergency medical care to the second fastest growing Township in New Jersey, needs a new home. Plans called for construction to start this spring but, with only 12 percent of the funds in hand, the Squad's two new ambulances may have to stay at least a year in a dilapidated, leaky machine shed once used by Walker-Gordon. The Squad moved into the shed last month when a hardware store, which had made a garage available for the past five years, could no longer postpone expanding into the garage.

"We are currently answering a call almost every day," says Betty Pinelli, President of the Rescue Squad. "It's a far cry from 1974, our first year, when we had 71 emergencies all year and our equipment was a 1957 Cadillac donated to us by Cranbury."

These same years have seen Plainsboro grow from a village of 1,750 to one of 6,500. By 1983, the population is expected to exceed 10,000.

To meet the increased need, the Plainsboro Rescue Squad has acquired two modern van-type ambulances, both supplied with sophisticated life-saving equipment. Art Ryba, a charter member of the Squad, expressed concern that the equipment would deteriorate if kept long in the cold, damp machine shed.

"We are also worried about the long bumpy road connecting the shed with Plainsboro Road. It's bad for our equipment but, more importantly, it slows our response time on every call," he said.

John Pinelli, Chairman of the Building Committee, views the Squad's drive for building funds with a sense of emergency. The yearly operating expenses of the Rescue Squad are met by a $15,000 municipal contribution and an annual door-to-door solicitation of the residents. But the goal for the new building is an additional $80,000 by fall.

ARBOR DAY SET

In West Windsor. West Windsor township residents may ask questions concerning the trees in their yards at the township Arbor Day program on Saturday. The eighth annual Arbor Day program will be held beginning at 10 at the townhall with the program moving inside if the weather is bad.

Highlights of the program will be a talk by Richard West, professor of forestry at Cook College and chairman of the planning and shade tree committees in Cranbury; and the announcement of the winner of the art contest. The theme of the contest is "Flowering Trees," and the winners will receive a 6-foot flowering tree as a prize. Application blanks are still available at the library or the townhall. Winning drawings will be displayed in the library.

Ingredients for Investment

Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the shortage of new savings made it difficult to finance private housing, and the number of new housing units built each year was far below that what it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in the labor and materials costs that go into building a house. In most urban areas, land values continue to go up each year, too. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living. Thus, it is an excellent inflation hedge.

So here are the ready-made ingredients for a good investment. We all need housing of some kind, and according to the experts, the price of housing will continue to go even higher, though perhaps, not as dramatically as in the past few years.

If you are leaving the area and need information about homes for sale in another town or state—call STONY BROOK REALTY for a free copy of Homes For Living picture magazine for the area you will be moving to. Stop in and see the selection of Homes for Living from 1,600 offices in over 9,000 communities from coast to coast. STONY BROOK REALTY, 35 W. Broad St., Hopewell. Phone: 466-0900 or 737-9150.

HOUSE OF GLASS: The Nelson Glass and Aluminum Company, owned by Robert Nelson, has been selling, installing, repairing and replacing glass in the Princeton community for almost 30 years. Here, Mr. Nelson is shown with a display of storm doors, one of the shop's best selling items.

NELSON GLASS COMPANY

Nearing 30th Anniversary. The Nelson Glass and Aluminum Company has been supplying the glass needs of the Princeton community for almost 30 years. A diversified variety of repair jobs and special orders are completed at the shop every day. Commercial installations for decorators and contractors, and individual installations or repairs for homeowners or stores, are handled on location.

The owner and originator of this thriving company is Robert Nelson, a native Princetonian, who began his glass business in a large garage at 248 Nassau Street, September 14, 1949.

Newly graduated from Cornell Univeraity with a degree in industrial engineering, he was aware of the vast quantities of glass being used in contemporary homes and buildings and decided to use his skills and knowledge to establish a shop supplying glass and service. Since Princeton did not have a business of this type, he came back to his home town, secured a G.I. loan from a Princeton bank, and the Nelson Glass Company was launched.

The Shop Expands. For a while, the new company's principal business was the installation of safety glass in automobiles, but the shop's services and personnel increased steadily, and in 1954, Mr. Frank Cawley, the shop's general manager, joined the company and is still Mr. Nelson's "right hand man," today.

In 1960, the Nelson Glass Company moved to its present location on Spring Street, where there are a showroom, offices, a work and storage area, and a staff of nine men and two women.

A part of the huge workroom is sectioned like a filing system to separate and store the various types of glass, and is equipped with machinery that speeds the work. Aluminum moldings are cut with a chop saw, a glass saw cuts notches and tubing, another machine makes finger pulls in glass and two belt machines -- one partable, one stationary -- are used to grind and finish glass.

All glass pieces are cut by hand, using a tool to make a continuous scratch that results in a clean cut, and requires a special touch or knack. A two-ton hoist enables one man to unload singlehaodedly a giant crate of glass from a truck.

Job Categories. The shop still replaces windshields and windows in cars, but the major job categories have become the sale, installations and repair of storm doors and windows, custom mirror work -- the installation of mirrored walls in homes and businesses, original installations of glass in custom-built homes, and insurance replacements of glass in and around doors and windows.

The shop also sells and installs aluminum patio doors, shower doors and enclosures and re-screens many windows and doors every spring. A fleet of six fully equipped trucks is available and kept busy with jobs and service calls.

Types of Glass. The Nelson Glass and Aluminum Company stocks all types of glass, including Thermopane, in every size and thickness. Federal law now requires that safety glass materials be used in all doors, side lights or windows adjacent to doors. Wire glass, laminated safety glass, tempered glass and acrylic plastic are the acceptable substitutes for window glass or plate glass in these locations.

Wire glass is given strength with a core of wire mesh. Laminated safety glass is prevented from shattering by a sticky adhesive layer between its two layers. Tempered glass, preferred by most customers, breaks into tiny non-sharp particles when struck, but cannot be worked or cut, so needed glass must first be cut to size, sent away to be tempered and then returned to the shop.

The shop has won the appreciation of customers for its many small repairs and services. Glass has been replaced in clock doors, picture frames, trays; mirrors replaced in frames, cosmetic or vanity cases; glass or mirrored tops cut for dressing tables, coffee tables or desks. Chips have been removed from the rims of fine cut glass stemware or tumblers, by grinding, and glass cut to size for window panes and jalousies.

Mr. Nelson has very exacting standards for the quality of the work at his shop; the work he does for others must measure up to the work he would do for himself. He also selects the finest quality products for his customers saying "We sell the best and service the rest."

The Nelson Glass and Aluminum Company is 45 Spring Street. Store hours are 8-5 Monday through Friday.

OUTSTANDING QUALITY

At Luttmann's Luggage. Luttman's Luggage has an extensive variety of fine quality bags that are handsome, easy to carry, and constructed to withstand the rigors of today's travel. Every line shown has at least one suitcase that will fit under a plane seat; over-the-shoulder or hand carried totes, valises, club bags and garment bags are also designed to stay by your side when you travel by air.

Abrasion resistant fabrics, aircraft aluminum and tough molded plastic are used to make luggage that safeguards your belongongs, whatever your mode of transportation.

The store also has a large collection of superb leather brief cases, attache cases and wallets for men and women, and classic handbags. Leather jewelry cases, manicure kits and travel kits are also available. Custom brief cases, duffles and satchels, handmade by skilled craftsmen, are distinctive and luxurious.

Luttmann's Luggage has been supplying the best in luggage and leather goods to Princetonians for generations, having opened its doors on April 4, 1904, exactly 75 years ago, today! Frederick W. Now owned by Bruce Crandall, the shop continues its long-standing tradition of prestigious products and service.

Many Luggage Styles. Customers are offered a wide choice of luggage styles from leading companies at various price levels. Selections are usually based on portability, frequency of travel and a look complementary to a personal lifestyle. Boyt's "no-nonsense luggage," in blue or brown canvas with contrasting straps, has a casual appearance that appeals to students and is favored by older people for its light weight.

Pegasus offers handsome styling and easy portability with four bags of graduated sizes, plus a club bag, garment bag and duffle in beige canvas with camel leather trim and zippered closings. Lark's matched luggage is navy nylon with red leather trim, or black with tan, and has a distinctive feature stripe of red, tan and green that makes it easy to spot when claiming your bags.

Fulton's stalwart luggage is shown in brown and black tweed with camel leather binding, supported by a tempered aircraft aluminum

"Playhouse" Needed Here.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The two movie houses are essential in keeping Princeton's downtown lively and attractive. I hope the Princeton Playhouse, now threatened with closing, is retained in operation until it is demolished in the Palmer Square enlargement project.

With the apparent expiration of leases on both the Playhouse and the Garden on Nassau Street, the hope of many of us moviegoers is that Palmer Square Inc. will not renew nor extend the contract with the Sameric organization nor switch to Budco and General Cinema, two other area movie management firms.

As a reader of Variety, an entertainment newspaper, I am aware that the number of movies produced nowadays is extremely limited and their release and distribution is in confusion. These factors tend to require long runs and high prices for those movies of the popular and first-run class.

As a local moviegoer I suggest and urge PSI to return to the independent operation of the Playhouse and Garden. I am willing to forego the long runs of current first-rune in favor of a wide variety of movies, frequent program changes and lower admission prices (allowing for inflation).

I ask other moviegoers to join me in saying: "Farewell to Eric!"

Grateful for Support.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Committee of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund wishes to thank the many concerned citizens who ao generously contributed to our recent fund raising campaign. In addition to individual gifts, we are also grateful for the support contributed by the Unitarian Church of Princeton and organizations such aa the Central Jersey Chapter of Links, Inc. The Legal Defense Fund is the principal legal agency using the courts to secure constitutional rights for America's racial minorities.

LDF was founded in 1939 by the NAACP, but has not been affiliated with the founding association for more than twenty years. An independent non-profit agency, LDF is entirely dependent on voluntary contributions.

LDF's cases are class action suits to gain equal access to education, jobs, homes, and health care, and to secure even-handed treatment in the administration of justice. This complex federal litigation is extremely costly to maintain. Although the Legal Defense Fund is nationwide in its scope, its efforts have always been rooted in local communities; the results of the Princeton Committee's recent fund drive assure us that support for LDF continues to have its roots in the local community.

Business and Professional Firms Here Aid Interne Program University Has Developed to Guide Students Into Life-Work

"Do I really want to be a lawyer?" "Where can I learn the catering business?"

Sophomores at Princeton University -- around two dozen of them -- have a chance to find answers to these questions through an interne program developed by Robin L. Wallack, assistant to the director of the University's office of career services.

In the two years the program has been operating, Mrs. Wallack has placed students with lawyers, caterers, accountants, politicians, architects, bankers, computer programmers. No money is exchanged. The employer is not recompensed and the student gets no salary. The student works one full "work week" -- whether 35 or 40 hours -- a semester, perhaps in a scattering of hours, or maybe all in one week.

The first year Mrs. Wallack opened the program to University juniors, but often a student would discover a new interest through the program, and say in dismay, "If I'd known, I'd have taken different courses!"

So now, the program is for sophomores, who have enough time to change direction. For example, one of the two aides in the Princeton Medical Center emergency room isn't sure she wants a pre-med academic career. Hospital experience may help her to decide.

Doubts to Be Settled. The student in Princeton High School's music department isn't sure whether he wants to teach music or perform it ... the interne in Stuart Mindlin's one-man computer business knows he wants to be a computer programmer but isn't sure whether a large or small firm would be right for him, and in this office, he learns that in a small company, you gain a breadth of experience -- and also have to answer the phone sometimes.

BUSINESS In Princeton

Nelson van den Blink, Borough Council member, has an interne who follows her to meetings and takes notes. She wanted to find out how a busy woman like Mrs. van den Blink combines work, family and accomplishment.

This student's room-mate is an interne with School Superintendent Paul Houston and she, too, spends a lot of time at meetings. She is interested in observing the way policy and decisions are made, and wants a career in school administration.

Ronald Novak, the schools' business administrator, has an interne whose father was an accountant. Did he want to follow Dad? He decided he did -- and that was after he'd worked on the school budget.

Student Needs Are Met. "This is different from a work-study program," Mrs. Wallack explains. "There, you show a student a list of employers and ask 'Who do you want to be with?' In this program, the student can ask for the sky and it's my job to get it!"

For example, one black student wanted to interne with a black woman lawyer, so Mrs. Wallack found a lawyer in Trenton who met the student's requirements. Many lawyers have internes: Ouida Young and Kathy Trenner shared one, and Barbara Lependorf, Alan Grossman, Henry Hill and Mrs. Wallack's husband, Alan, have all had internes.

In a law office, an interne is useful for research, and Mrs. Wallack impresses upon all students the seriousness of their commitment.

"As a student, your time is often your own," she tells them. "In work, that's not so. You see what happens if you goof!"

Technical Knowledge Helps. Richard Woodbridge, another Borough Council member, is a patent attorney who is also an engineer, and he needed someone with a technical background. His interne has a chance to decide which he wants for himself, a law career or a job in engineering.

Sharon Naeole Associates, the public relations firm, Peterson's Guides, architect Jeremiah Ford ... all have had internes. The student who worked with Mr. Ford took a year's leave from college, decided she really did want to be an architect, and is now back with the Ford firm.

A student interested in transportation is with John Huntoon at the Department of Transportation -- and spent part of his interne time with another Princeton transportation expert, Margaret Broadwater.

RCA has three women engineering students; Adolph Herst's investment firm has a student who wants to be an investment banker or a stock broker; Princeton University biologist Victor Bruce has an interne in his lab.

The student interested in catering learned, from a caterer no longer in Princeton, not only cooking but advertising, billing and public relations. She now does free-lance catering.

Perhaps the most ambitious of all is a student from the Watts area of Los Angeles who works with Mercer County Prosecutor Anne Thompson. "I intend," he told Mrs. Wallack, "to be attorney-general of California!"

NEW GUIDE PUBLISHED

In Two Volumes. Peterson's Guides has announced the publication of its "Annual Guide to Undergraduate Study 1979." The 1,884-page, two-volume Guide contains information submitted by nearly 1,000 two-year and 1,500 four-year institutions in the United States and Canada.

The 1979 edition of the Guide has expanded to two volumes and been reorganized to accommodate the increased amount of information gathered in the summer of 1978 during Peterson's Annual Survey of Undergraduate Institutions. All information in the Guide comes directly from the institutions themselves.

"Volume 1: College Descriptions and Profiles" (1,644 pages, $12, $2 postage and handling) contains profiles of 2,439 American and Canadian colleges and universities including information about admission and transfer requirements, expenses and financial aid, special academic programs, enrollment patterns and men's and women's athletic programs. Also included are two-page descriptions written by 504 colleges, with detailed information about academic programs and facilities, off-campus study opportunities, faculty, student government, and the campus and surrounding area.

"Volume 2: Tests and Majors" (240 pages, $6, $1.25 postage and handling) provides in tabular form the SAT and ACT score ranges of freshmen at each college, a list of 266 majors and the colleges that offer each at the associate's or bachelor's level, and a list of institutions organized by state. Both volumes are available from Peterson's Guides, P.O. Box 2123, Princeton.

Add to that perfect condition and a lovely wooded Princeton Township setting and you've got a rare find at a JUST REDUCED $164,500.

OLDER THAN THE UNITED STATES

This colonial farmhouse is alive with warmth and atmosphere. The original section has been traced back to at least 1738, and was part of a large section of land granted by the King of England. To this day, the property is still known as King's Grant Farm.

As you enter into the home through the main hallway, the lovely panelled billard room, with built-in bookcases, and family room with huge walk-in fireplace are to your right. To your left is the large living room with fireplace, perfect for entertaining. Beyond this is the dining room, also with a fireplace, that could easily seat a dinner party for 30. The huge country kitchen offers lots of cabinet space, and has been completely modernized. The 6 bedrooms and additional 3 baths on the second floor can be easily reached by any of 3 staircases.

The grounds included a greenhouse, 3 story barn with separate workshop, 2 storage buildings, pump house and a 20 x 40 inground pool. This exceptional property is presently under farm assessment and is available for purchase with either 94 or 53 acres. Please call for additional details and appointments.

Birthday Celebration Planned for Ira Warren, A Native Princetonian, Who Will Be 100 April 13

921-3754

CENTENARIAN: Ira Sankey Warren, shown in his favorite chair at his home at 4 Hamilton Ave.

Ira Sankey Warren of 4 Hamilton Avenue, a native Princetonian who is the sole survivor of a well known building and construction firm in the first quarter of this century, will be 100 years old Friday, April 13.

Because his birthday falls this year on Good Friday, Mr. Warren will celebrate the occasion on Wednesday, April 11, with a party in the Lawrenceville Nursing Home, where he is now staying, and at a reception for family and friends at his home Thursday, April 12. Although somewhat deaf, he is alert and in good health and has been talking about this birthday for the past year, according to the nursing home staff.

Mr. Warren is the second of the five sons of Matilda Kahler and Benjamin Rossell Warren and the only one surviving. A younger brother, Edward B. Warren, who inherited and remodelled the family home at 70 Wiggins Street, died last year. The home was also the office of Benjamin R. Warren & Sons, contractor.

The Warren family traces its roots in American soil back to John Warren who had a grant of 300 acres of land in Burlington County in 1690. Ira Warren was born in the Frog Hollow area of Mercer Street and lived as a boy on University Place, across from Dickenson Street and not far from the train station which used to be behind what is now the University store.

Boyhood Memories. Mr. Warren thinks his boyhood home may have been moved to Maple Street to make room for Henry and Foulke Hall dormitories now on the site. He remembers playing baseball in Stockton's orchards which opened on Bayard Lane and the Saturday afternoon horse races on Nassau Street that went clear down to Nassau Prep School at the corner of Nassau and Snowden Lane.

He went to school on Nassau Street and recalls the principal, Dr. Hartwell, as one who "was loved by everybody." After 7th grade, he went to work for his father's company.

The Benjamin Warren & Sons, Contractors and Builders was in operation well before the turn of the century and continued until the 1930's. In addition to his younger brother, Edward, there was an older brother, Leroy, who also worked as a carpenter. Another younger brother, Charles, was the bookkeeper, and Harvey, the middle son, died in childhood.

White City. The most notable achievement of the firm was the construction of 25 senior faculty houses on Broadmead and FitzRandolph Place. According to the reminiscences of brother Edward Warren as transcribed by Elric Endersby of the Princeton Recollector, Moses Taylor Pyne in 1907 asked Prof. Walter B. Harris, head of the civil engineering department and a Greenholm resident, to design some houses for senior faculty members. A draftsman was called in from New York City, and bids were also submitted by the Matthews Construction Company.

won the contract and Prof. Harris supervised the building of the 25 large, single family, English Tudor style residences done in white stucco with dark brown trim. They were the University's first major planned construction for faculty members and became popularly known as "White City" because of the white plastered exteriors.

The Warren firm also built "most of Bank Street," according to Mr. Warren, and a good many sturdy double houses on Jefferson Road, Wiggins Street, Moore Street and Bayard Lane. During World War I the sons turned their efforts toward the expansion of the Camp Dix -- as Ft. Dix was then known -- facilities at Wrightstown.

Mr. Warren was married at age 35 to the former Laura Alice Birchall of Philadelphia, who died in 1973. They had no children.

The couple lived at 26 Jefferson Road, one of the firm's double houses, when they were first married. They moved to 4 Hamilton Avenue, a single, Colonial-style house which Mr. Warren built for them in 1929.

$390 For A Car. One of his most vivid memories is the $440 he paid for his first Ford car. Henry Ford was offering a promotion in which he promised a $50 rebate if a certain number of cars were sold. Mr. Warren got the rebate, so the car only cost him $390.

Mr. Warren earned his badge for 50 years as a member of the Masonic Lodge, and he was a longtime member of Second Presbyterian Church where he served as an elder and trustee and offered his

THE DEVELOPMENT OF JEFFERSON ROAD: Looking north from Wiggins Street, this is the way Jefferson Road looked about the time of World War I when the Benjamin R. Warren Company built many of the double houses that are still standing today. The house on the left, No. 26-28, is the one which Ira Warren built and lived in when he was first married.

News Of The THEATRES

HORSES, HORSES ...

Lipizzaners Ready. More than 24 horses will participate in the various acts of the Royal Lipizzan Stallions when they visit Jadwin Gym this Sunday afternoon at 3. Remaining seats are on sale at McCarter Theatre's box-office.

In "Airs Above the Ground," the precision dressage is so difficult that no one horse has ever learned to perform it in its entirety. The "Capriole," for example, is a soaring jump from which the horse lashes out with both hind feet. In the "Courbette," the horse balances on the hind legs and then jumps, keeping the hind legs together and the forelegs off the ground.

The "Croupade" is a jump similar to the "Capriole," with the horse tucking fore and hind legs under the body at the height of elevation. The "Piaffe" requires the horse to perform a cadenced trot while standing in one spot.

The show will also have a lighter side, with Gaylord Maynard and his comedy horse, Chief Bear Paws; Charles Skelton and his performing Andalusiaos and the Christiani Family's comedy mules and ponies.

HATE IT? LOVE IT?

"Trocks" Is for Both. McCarter says that whether you love ballet or hate it, "The Trocks" is for you. It's the "travesti" ballet company, satirizing both classical and contemporary choreographers and sparing no one, not even Petipa and Balanchine.

"Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo" will come back to McCarter for a performance next Tuesday at 8 p.m. Reservations at the box-office.

Formed in 1976, The Trocks has played Broadway's Palace Theatre, Los Angeles' Music Center and other houses from Canada to South America. The New York Times said of this all-male troupe, "Dance will never be the same."

For its McCarter audience, the company will perform several ballet classics including Act II of "Swan Lake," the "Dying Swan" solo, the Pas de Deux from "Le Corsaire" and the dancers' own interpretation of "Go for Barocco," a so-called "adaptation" of Balanchine's choreography.

HERE'S PENNSYLVANIA Ballet, at McCarter. The Pennsylvania Ballet, the fourth largest ballet company in the United States, will make its McCarter debut in early May.

The company and the theatre have arranged three performances. They will be on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, May 10, 11 and 12 at 8 p.m. Tickets are now on sale. A special half-price ticket is available to college and high-school students in the Princeton area for Thursday night's performance. Valid student ID must be presented.

On Thursday and Friday evenings, the company will dance Balanchine's "Divertimento No. 15," set to Mozart's music. It was created for the New York City Ballet. Other offerings on the program will be Rodney Griffin's "Eakins' View," an original work which the choreographer did for the Pennsylvania Ballet in 1976. It is based on the paintings of the Philadelphia painter and is set to Charles Ives' Symphony No. 3. The program will conclude with Margot Sappington's "Under the Sun," a tribute to Alexander Calder, choreographed for the Pennsylvania Ballet and set to a commissioned score by Michael Kamen.

On Saturday, the Pennsylvania Ballet will present two works by the company's current artistic director, Benjamin Harkarvy. They are

"Madrigalesco," to music of Vivaldi and "Poems of Love and the Seasons," set to the commissioned score of Peter Nocella. Another new work, Dane LaFontsee's "L'Ardeur," to music by John Corigliano, will also be danced, and Saturday's program will end with Petipa's "Pas de Dix" to music by Glazunov.

"SKATEBOARD"

Free-wheeling! The kids' action comedy, "Skateboard," will close McCarter's series of "Movies-for-Kids" with two showings this Saturday, one at 11 a.m. and the other at 2 p.m. Tickets will be on sale from 10 until 2 on Saturday.

Leif Garrett, one of the country's current teen-age pop idols, stars in this free-wheeling comedy. It's about an out-of-work agent who starts a professional skateboard team. The roster includes a ten-year-old who seems to have skateboards grafted to his feet, and an 18-year-old who'd rather be surfing.

Garrett, said to be an accomplished skateboarder who started when he was six, will be accompanied by Richard Van Der Wyk, 20-year-old world-class surfer, as well as skateboarder; Tony ("Mad Dog") Alva, age 19 and the men's world skateboard professional champion and Steve Monahan, 16, known for his Evil Knieval stunting.

The film is rated PG, and has been designed for older children and teen-agers, not for very young children.

"SHORT EYES"

Prison Drama Here. In prison lingo, a "short eyes" is a child molester, and in the prison drama of the same name the leading character is a young white prisoner who, as a short eyes, is subject to systematized torture and abuse, both physical and verbal.

"Short Eyes" will be screened twice next Wednesday, April 11, as part of the "Movies-from-McCarter" series. It will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. at McCarter Theatre.

Originally produced by Joseph Papp's Shakespeare Festival, "Short Eyes" has been translated to film and shot entirely in one cell-block of The Tombs, Manhattan's House of Detention. In the film, The Tombs is shown as a seething turbulence of racial and sexual tension where whites, blacks and Puerto Ricans exist in uneasy harmony. The cast is a mixture of professional actors and ex-convicts.

McCarter warns that the film is rough and brutal in both action and language and is not for those who find this kind of film unsettling.

DANCE FILM ON VIEW

At Squibb Gallery. "Pas de Deux," a motion picture produced by Canadian filmmaker Norman McLaren, will be shown during April as part of the multimedia exhibition "A Tribute to The Dance," at The Squibb Gallery.

The film was photographed in slow motion and captures two dancers through a technique known as multiple superimposition of frames. This allows the viewer to perceive not only where the dancer is now, but where he or she was five, ten, or twenty frames ago. Haunting panpipe music and dramatic lighting complete the effects.

The 14-minute black-and-white film was choreographed by Ludmilla Chiriaeff and stars dancers Margaret Mercier and Vincent Warren. It will be shown at no charge this Sunday and April 15, 22, and 29. Squibb Gallery is located in the world headquarters of E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc. on Route 206 and is open Monday through Friday from 9-4:30, Thursday until 9 and Sunday from 1-5.

Hear Lionel Hampton

Lionel Hampton and vibes, drums, piano, singing, dancing, will play a benefit for McCarter Theatre on Monday, April 23, at 8:30. The benefit will be at the theatre.

Admission is $7 to $10, of which $2 or $3 represents a tax-deductible contribution to McCarter Theatre. Mail or telephone orders are now being accepted at the box-office.

Lionel Hampton will front his 11-piece band, and there will be vocalists. Originally a drummer, Hampton took the vibraphone out of the background accompanying shadows and rode it to fame.

FRENCH COMPANY DUE

At Hun School. Bernard Uzan, head of the Alliance Francaise of Boston and founder, director and principal actor of La Compagnie Bernard Uzan, will bring a French language production of "Spectacle Beaumarchais" to the Hun School stage Friday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The production will introduce works of the 18th Century French dramatist Pierre Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais whose satirical comedies formed the basis of Rossini's popular opera "The Barber of Seville" and "Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro."

Influential in the French revolution and sympathetic to the American revolution, Beaumarchais challenged aristocratic privileges in his writings. Mr. Uzan's colorful and comic characterizations permit even those with an elementary knowledge of the language to understand and enjoy Beaumarchais's meanings.

Arrangements for "Spectacle Beaumarchais" have been made by Helene Davies of the Hun School faculty. Tickets are $3.50 and may be obtained in advance through The Hun School or purchased at the door.

'WOYZECK' PLANNED

By Acting Ensemble. The Acting Ensemble, the professional company of Princeton University's Program in Theatre & Dance, will open a new adaptation of Georg Buchner's "Woyzeck", Thursday, April 12, at the Acting Studio, 185 Nassau Street. The production will continue April 13, 14, 19-22 and 25-29 at 8.

Generally regarded as the first great modern play, the work explores the life and world of a German soldier, Franz Woyzeck. Poverty stricken and abused by those around him, Woyzeck is at first able to find consolation in the love of a woman. But as the play progresses, he finds he has been betrayed, and, isolated, without friends, he confronts life without aid of illusion or hope. In the end he turns to murder.

"Woyzeck" was the first play to use a dramatic technique now the mark of modern theatre, a cinematic form in which the action is presented by means of brief scenes which together create a collage. In the version presented by the Acting Ensemble this technique is carried even further as scenes are at first presented in random order, only gradually assuming a clear shape as they repeat and are reinterpreted. The audience fills in blank spaces and draws its own conclusions.

The Acting Ensemble is composed of professional actors and directors who also form the faculty of Princeton's Program in Theatre. Each spring the group chooses an unusual project to explore and produce for the public. Two years ago work began with an acclaimed production of Samuel Beckett's "Endgame," and was followed last year by Chekhov's "Three Sisters."

The cast is headed by Paul Zimet as Woyzeck. Mr. Zimet was a member of Joseph Chaikin's Open Theatre for several years and recently appeared at the Public Theater in the Dybbuk, as well, as off Broadway in his own company, the Talking Band. He is joined by John Doolittle, who portrayed Andre in last season's Three Sisters, and a cast whose work has ranged from Broadway to Persia.

The production is designed by Karen Schultz, Jess Goldstein and Paul Gallo, designers for Three Sisters, and together they have turned the Acting Studio into an experimental laboratory in which the audience sits as students. In the adaptation done by Mokler the play thus also probes the relationship of professor to student and scholar to subject.

Information and reservations are available by phoning 452-3676 weekdays between 9 and 5.

TWO COURSES OFFERED

In Creative Dance. As part of a series of spring workshops, Creative Theatre Unlimited has announced two special mini-courses in creative movement. The classes taught by Laurie Abramson and Angela Pelusi, will be held on Saturday at CTU's studio, 33 Mercer Street, at 1 for grades 1-3 and at 3 for 4 year-olds through kindergarten.

Creative dance will introduce the young child to the variety of ways the imagination can guide movement. Fundamentals of movement will be explored, and children will be guided through numerous dance experiences designed towards helping them recognize their own movement potential, their ability to build dances, and the joy of being able to communicate through their body.

Ms. Pelusi was a member of the Steven Peck Dance Company in California and was also founder and director of the East Whittier YM-YWCA Family Branch dance and movement program and taught creative movement for five years. She studied dance at the University of Southern California, and with the Peck Company.

Ms. Abramson received her dance training with the Joffrey Ballet, and in addition to her classes at CTU, teaches dance in Dutch Neck. She has a BA in dance and theatre from NYU, where she is presently an MA candidate in educational theatre.

FLEMISH ART ON VIEW

Exhibit to Open Sunday. A major exhibition of religious works by the 17th-century Flemish artist Anthony Van Dyck will open at the Princeton University Art Museum on Sunday and continue until May 20.

Van Dyck is known chiefly for his elegant and stylish portraits of the Genoese aristocracy and the English court. His paintings with religious themes, until now little explored, form an important part of his oeuvre, and it is these pictures of sacred history that are the subject of the exhibition. For the first time, the works with religious subjects have been brought together, offering a new view of this important artist.

There are 50 works in the exhibition, drawn from 35 public and private collections in the United States, England, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Canada, and Puerto Rico. Included are paintings, drawings, oil sketches and prints. Among them are sequences of preparatory studies, which give insight into the artist's method of developing his compositions.

Although it was not possible to have Van Dyck's large altarpieces in the exhibition, they are represented by preparatory studies, some of which are final versions squared by the artist for enlargement on the canvas. Van Dyck's version of the Betrayal of Christ is represented by two oil paintings as well as five preparatory drawings.

Several of the lending institutions have cleaned and restored their paintings prior to their coming to Princeton, and canvases from the Indianapolis Museum of Art, New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., are seen in their renewed splendor. Because many of the works are extremely fragile, the exhibition will not travel.

The exhibition has been organized by John R. Martin, Marquand Professor of Art and Archaeology at Princeton and a distinguished scholar in the field of Baroque painting. Martin and Gail Feigenbaum, a doctoral candidate at Princeton, have written a comprehensive catalogue to accompany the exhibition, in which Van Dyck's career, from the early years in Antwerp to his final days as court painter to King Charles I of England, is traced through his paintings of religious subjects.

A recurring theme is the painter's relation to Peter Paul Rubens, in whose studio Van Dyck worked in his early years. The illustrations in the catalogue include not only the works on exhibit but also about 50 paintings and drawings by Van Dyck and his contemporaries. The large-format, 180-page publication, entitled "Van Dyck as Religious Artist," is available from Princeton University Press ($13.50 paperbound and $28.50 hardcover).

Martin will give a talk on "Van Dyck as Painter of Religious Subjects" on Sunday at 4 in McCormick 101, just outside the museum. The lecture is open to the public.

The art museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4 and Sundays from 1 to 5. The museum is closed Mondays and major holidays.

AN AUTOGRAPH PARTY

Friday Night at Gallery 100.

An exhibition of paintings by Jean Lareuse of 256 Shady Brook Lane will open Friday at Gallery 100 with a reception for the artist from 6 to 8. At that time Mr. Lareuse will also autograph his children's book, "Devil's in the Castle," published by Scribners.

The book, his first and done "just for fun," is an outgrowth of a familiar theme in Mr. Lareuse's paintings -- little girls in the blue uniform and matching round blue hat of their convent who are accompanted by nuns in high white headdress. He haa painted them in scenes at the market place, taking horaeback riding lessons or frolicking in the snow.

Mr. Lareuse waa born in French Guines but raised in France. When he was 5 hia mother died, and because his father was in the Army in Africa, he was sent to a boys' school run by priests ood his sister to a convent. He began painting the nuns in their high headdresses and the little girls in blue in 1945 and has continued to palnt them ever since.

Three years ago, he decided to write a book about the life of these girls in their convent school and although life in the convent was not easy, to show only the light-hearted and merry side of their existence. The publisher objected to the original concept of "Devils In the Convent," so the nuns became school teachers and the convent a castle.

A Joyful World. The "Devils" are a hoard of playful creatures who look like happy-go-lucky tigers with horns. They move into the attic of the convent where they make merry, refusing to be budged until a carriage-load of boys from a neighboring school come for the day. The devils depart with the boys, presumably to take up residence in a more "sympatique" household.

This kind of "joie de vivre" is evident throughout Mr. Lareuse's serious paintings. The Impressionists have made the greatest impact on his work, he says, and like them, he has been influenced by sun and light. Every summer he returns to the Pyrenees Mountatns where the sun shines brilliantly and there is a luminous quality in the air which he tries to capture in his paintings.

At the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris he studied different schools of art as well as the techniques and styles of the masters. After several years of Bohemian life, he had his first one-man show in Paris at the age of 23. Other exhibitions followed in Londoo, Caracas, New York and Montreal, a total now of 35.

Mr. Lareuse says that during tbe war yeara, he palnted sad clowns, lonely children and somber still-lifes, all In dark colors. Like everyone else, he felt the impact of the war. As conditions improved, he painted with brighter colors and the aubjects became gayer, playful nuns with little girls, horses in colorful race track scenes, Paris streets -- alwaya using pure color and trying to create a world of joy and happiness.

In 1968, Mr. Lareuse painted six large religious murals for a chapel in the Pyrenees whicb depict the life of the patron saints of the village. Ooe is a study, done in watercolor and pastel, for a stainglass window.

The exhibit opening this week at Gallery 100 will be a mixture of watercolors and oils, race horses, sailboats, Paris scenes -- and the little girls and the nuns.

building expertise on renovation projects over the years.

He chuckles to think that he is the oldest living member of the church and yet says it is a "surprise" to him that he has achieved the 100-year mark. It may have something to do with heredity; his mother lived to be 96 and one of Princeton's oldest women when she died in 1948, and his father reached 90. He has surpassed them both and deserves all the birthday congratulations that will be coming to him next week.

Deadline for submission of prints is Saturday, April 28. Pictures will be displayed the following Wednesday, and may be picked up on Saturday, May 19.

7% interest. Instead of shouting it, we're explaining it.

Six percent this. Seven percent that. Every bank in town is getting into the act with banner headlines proclaiming enormous interest rates.

Which interest rate is right for you? Ask yourself two key questions, and then use the chart in this ad to decide for yourself which savings account (or accounts) you really need.

The questions are: (1) How much income do you need from your savings? And (2) How long can you afford to tie up your money?

Everything else you need to know is in the chart. Clip it out and keep it for future reference. For full details and answers to any questions you may have, see a personal banker at your nearest United Jersey Bank office.

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to You by John Bernard

Strangely enough, there was once a major league baseball park in which it was ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO HIT A HOME RUN! ... It was Braves Field in Boston, which was in use from 1915 till the Braves moved out of Boston in 1953 ... NOBODY hit a homer over the fence there the first two years the park was used ... And in six years, only two homers were hit there ... It was over 400 feet down each foul line and over 550 feet to center field – making it the biggest ball park in playing area in major league history ... The distances were later shortened, but for many years Braves Field was the all-time pitcher's paradise.

I bet you didn't know ... that mortgage insurance is the least expensive of all life insurance.

Here's something to watch in the 1979 baseball season ... George Foster has a chance to become the first man in major league history to lead the league in runs batted in four years in a row ... Foster led the National League in RBIs in 1976-77-78 ... Nobody -- Babe Ruth, Hank Aaron, Ted Williams or anybody else -- has ever led a major league in RBIs four straight years, but Foster could do it this season.

Tiger Nine Can't Win, But Vic Kurylak Can Hit: After First Six Games, He Has Five Home Runs

Princeton University's baseball team, able to win but one of six games on its southern trip, will open its home season Wednesday at 3 on Clarke Field against Rutgers. Two days later, at the same hour, defending champion Harvard will be here to begin the Eastern League schedule for the Tigers, while Dartmouth, which finshed last in the ten-team circuit in 1978, will come in for a doubleheader Saturday at 1.

Two road games are also booked for the coming week. The Orange and Black will travel to Montclair State Thursday and to Villanova on Sunday. The pitching is not by any means sufficiently deep to cope with it all.

Expectations are that a pair of football quarterbacks, one with two more years on the Princeton varsity and one who has closed out a fine career at Harvard, will oppose each other on the mound Friday. Mark Lockenmeyer is the likely choice for the Tigers, off his fine closing performance a year ago, while the Crimson's ace is Larry Brown.

Brown was 5 and 0 last spring in league action, recording a standout 0.86 earned run average over a stretch of 42 innings. There is enough offensive strength on his team to give Lockenmeyer trouble, despite bis promise, and it will be an upset of considerable proportions if the Tigers win. They dropped two to the Crimson a year ago, 11-1 and 2-1, at Cambridge.

Pitchers Wanted. Dartmouth, weaker in the sport than teams from Hanover usually are, lacks front-line pitching, but so do the Tigers. Last spring in New Hampshire, the Orange and Black prevailed in a wild 12-9 contest.

The southern trip served to smooth out the Princeton fielding, which was guilty of five errors in its first game and then played another five while committing only five more. The infield's problems at short and second may have been solved by the play at second of a sophomore who did not come out for baseball last spring and a freshman at short. Scott Messel, the sophomore, was a soccer player last fall and began at shortstop this season. He was moved to the other side of the bag, however, when Tom Hagerstrom, a member of the Class of 1982, began to work smoothly at short.

SPORTS In Princeton

Messel has thus dislodged John Corelli from second base, but the latter remains in the lineup as the designated hitter. At third, Mark Goldstrom, back in college after a year's absence, has been sharing the assignment with sophomore Bill Miller.

Rod Shepard is now installed as the regular catcher, where he should be on a basis of his mechanical ability. If his hitting continues to hold up, the Tigers will be measurably stronger there. Ted Frangos, who wore the mask and pads for the past two seasons, has left the team following a divergence of opinion on various matters from that of Coach Len Rivers. Captain Joe DeGeorge and Ed Kish are fixtures in left and right, while Eric Jahn has been playing center, spelled occasionally by freshman Cris Brennand.

Kurylak Batting .474. The big story after a week's play is the hitting of first baseman Vic Kurylak, who has already nailed down two more Princeton career records. He hit five home runs in the first six games, raising his total to 13, far ahead of the mark of eight that Mike Ippolito set a couple of decades ago. The first RBI he recorded also broke up the tie at 63 in which he had been involved, and he now has a distant shot at reaching three figures before he graduates.

Five homers in six games is, of course, a mark rarely equalled at any level of college or professional baseball, and the big first baseman is sure to have a number of big league scouts watching him this spring. Fortunately for his future, he also hits safely when not engaged in fence-busting – he was 9 for 19 on the trip, a .474 average – and is also adept with the glove.

Since losing their opening doubleheader to Wake Forest to start their southern trip, the Tigers dropped another twin bill to High Point, 3-1 and 6-5, broke into the win column against Guilford 13-3, and then fell victim, 13-6, to the University of Richmond. A shortage of capable pitchers is their primary problem.

Freshman Bob Holly worked a good game in the opener of the High Point doubleheader, which was created by a Tuesday rain-out, but lacked the necessary support at the plate to win. He was charged with only three runs and seven hits in seven innings but Kurylak's homer in the sixth was the losers' lone score.

Princeton held a 5-3 lead going into the last inning of the second game but yielded the decision on a three-run rally by the home team. Hoon Mo Chung worked the first six and a third innings, and was replaced by Cris Cascia, who gave up a walk and a two-run double to dissipate the victory. Three of the Tigers' five runs were driven in by right fielder Ed Kish, two of them on a home run.

Lockenmeyer a Winner. The first victory of the season did no more than raise the team record to 1-4 but the 13 runs and 15 hits made the afternoon enjoyable as the Tigers trounced Guilford at Greensboro, 13 to 3. Sophomore Mark Lockenmeyer went the distance, scattered eight hits and evened his record at 1-1.

Two homers by Kurylak, three singles and a homer by Rod Shepard and four runs batted in for John Corelli, including a three-run double in the eighth, did the greatest damage. Shepard's four hits were half the number he managed all last season.

On Saturday, inadequate relief pitching saw a 6-2 advantage midway through the game with Richmond turn into a 13-6 rout. Mark Cascia started, watching Kurylak hit his fifth homer with Corelli aboard to make it 2-0. Freshman Mike Judy replaced Cascia, becoming the recipient of a four-run outburst. A bases-loaded double by Messel drove in two and another pair scored on an infield error.

Richmond crept closer to make it 6-5 and then won with ease when it scored five in the seventh and added three more in the eighth, the latter at the expense of Cris Cascia. It was the 20th game this season for the Virginians, a factor somewhat in their favor.

NAVY HERE SATURDAY

For Lacrosse Game. Navy's lacrosse team which already holds a 14-7 decision over Princeton scored at Annapolis last month, will play the Tigers again Saturday at 2. The contest will be held on Finney Field, not in Palmer Stadium as originally announced, because of a conflict with a women's track meet.

Princeton's second defeat of the season (against four victories) was unusual in the manner that it was administered Saturday by Johns Hopkins at Baltimore. It took the national champion Bluejays 30 minutes to shift into high gear, the Tigers holding them to a 2-1 advantage through the first two periods.

Thereafter, Hopkins was in complete charge, adding a dozen goals to one more for the losers. Bob Thomas and George Brush produced those two, Dave Heubeck going scoreless for the first time this season.

Franklin & Marshall, the Tigers' fourth victim of the season, was never in the game last Wednesday at Lancaster, Pa., after the opening minutes, and trailed by 6-1 at the half. The victors scored three times in each of the first three periods and added five more in the last 15 minutes.

Heubeck's four goals and four assists led the Princeton offense, while freshman Steve Delligatti, a 5-9 midfielder, collected three goals, all while the winners were a man long. Carl Nissen, Brush and Boota deButts were credited with two each.

REGATTA SATURDAY

Starts on Lake at 3:15. Princeton's heavyweight and 150-lb. crews will row on Carnegie Lake Saturday in a regatta for wbich six races have been scheduled.

The Tiger lightweights, who began their season here last week with a victory over Georgetown by nearly four lengths, will oppose Columbia. The freshman race is scheduled for 3:15, the jayvees will leave the stake boats at 3:30 and the varsities 15 minutes later. Six of eight men who rowed last spring were seniors, and Coach Gary Kilpatrick is in a rebuilding year.

Columbia, Rutgers and Princeton will take part in the heavyweight races, with the freshmen rowing at 4, the jayvees at 4:15 and the three varsity shells at 4:30. The Lions and the Scarlet borrowed the lake for a race Saturday, Rutgers winning by some five lengths.

The Scarlet's new coach was content with his navy's performance, as it won four of the five events. He is Kit Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Macpherson Raymond of Cherry Valley Road.

Raymond is a member of the Class of 1974 at Princeton, rowing on the Tiger varsity for three seasons. He coached the women's crew here before going to New Brunswick to take charge of the program at Rutgers.

Coach Pete Sparhawk is anticipating another good season for the Tigers, who were 5-2 in 1978 and have all but two men back from that boat. Since the Ivy League ranks crew with football in that freshmen are not eligible for the varsity, Sparhawk is looking at last year's jayvees for replacements.

EWING HERE SATURDAY

For Hun Nine Home Opener. Beginning with Thursday's season's opener at Pingry, the Hun School baseball team will play four games in seven days. Hun's home opener will be Saturday afternoon when it entertains Ewing High School at 1.

Coach Bill McQuade reports the Hun lineup is set after a pre-season contest last week with Hopewell Valley which Hun won, 7-1, pounding out nine hits. "The hitting has started to come around," said McQuade.

Co-captain Angelo Barbero will be behind the plate, Dave Wheaton at first, Tommy Zahn at second and co-captain Anthony Bevilacqua at short. Dave Iorio will open in left field and Jim Mahony in right.

The choice in center revolves around who will pitch – Arvie Powell or Jeff Catelli. Catelli pitched four of six innings against Hopewell Valley and gave up one earned run. He is ready. Powell pitched one inning against the Bulldog but has a slight sore arm from trying to push himself too fast.

"He hasn't had a chance to throw a lot," said McQuade of Powell, who had to report late because of basketball commitments and a visit to the Wagner College campus.

If Powell starts, Catelli will play third and Keith Duvin will be in centerfield; if Catelli gets the nod, Greg Otto will play third and Powell will open in center.

Following the Ewing contest, Hun will play Princeton Day School Monday afternoon at 4 at the PDS diamond and then travel to Delbarton next Wednesday.

DEPTH IS LACKING

For PDS Baseball Team. Most major league baseball teams carry a roster of 24 or 25 players, but Princeton Day coach Tom DeVito will be going with about half that number for the 1979 season. The Panthers were scheduled to open their season this past Tuesday at home against West Windsor.

This Thursday, the Blue and White will travel to New Brunswick for a game against Rutgers Prep, a B division opponent, and Monday at 4 Hun will visit the Panthers' field.

Blessed with several returning veterans, DeVito saw no reason to keep a lot of substitutes on the bench. "I'd rather have the freshman, sophomore and junior players playing regularly and gaining experience on the jayvee team," he commented.

His infield is all seniors with the exception of Jamie Bartolomie at first. Evan Press will return at second base, Jay Nusblatt will move to shortstop from catcher and Lou Guarino will be at third.

Vince Pacino, Joe Lapsley and Mark Cozzarin will hold down positions in the outfield, and Bob Leahy will take over

Penn's Trip to Final Four in Basketball Worth $25,000 Each to Other Ivy Colleges

When Pennsylvania's basketball team reached the semi-finals of the NCAA Tournament, it meant considerably more for Princeton than mere pride in the Quakers' unusual showing as an Ivy League team. In round dollars, it will mean about 25,000.

As one of the final four, Penn will receive an estimated $280,000, from which it will subtract approximately $30,000 for expenses, which included transportation of its band to Salt Lake City. The Eastern College Athletic Conference, to which Penn belongs, is then cut in for six percent.

The remainder is divided among the Ivy League colleges, two-ninths for the Quakers, and one-ninth for each of the other seven. Each share is accordingly worth about $25,000 -- if the gross figure is actually some $280,000. The Tigers will accordingly put a bit more in their athletic department treasury than they did as victors in the NIT four years ago, when they banked about $22,000.

In other post-season developments, the NCAA Rules Committee:

- Voted 13 to 1 against use of a 30-second clock;
- Will see that baskets which follow charging fouls are uniformly disallowed;
- Approved a two-shot foul when an excess time-out is called;
- Will require officials to award fouls for improper bench conduct, hand-checking on defense and grasping the rim on dunk shots.

behind the plate. DeVito has lost his main man on the mound for four years in lefthander Mike Walters, and will go with righthanders Jeff Freda and Tony Dell, with Press available for relief duty. Senior Dave Blaxill will be the designated hitter.

The squad has had two scrimmages. The first against Allentown was hampered by cold weather and strong winds. Against Hamilton last week, the Hornet batters teed off fairly well against the PDS pitchers, but DeVito said he was not surprised, given the amount of work his pitchers had had.

SPRING SPORTS BEGIN

At Princeton High. Spring sport schedules at Princeton High erupt into full bloom this week.

The Little Tiger Baseball team will oppose Lawrenceville this Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 on its home field next to the Valley Road School building. PHS will play its first Colonial Valley Conference game Monday when it travels to Pennington for a 4 p.m. contest with the Bulldogs of Hopewell Valley.

One of the most important games on the PHS tennis schedule surfaces early when the Little Tigers play host to Christian Brothers Academy on Thursday at 3:45. CB was one of two teams to defeat the Blue and White last year.

The day before, PHS will be at Ewing and on Monday it will oppose Hopewell Valley in Pennington in its first CVC match. Hopewell is claiming it has the personnel this year to defeat PHS for the first time.

The girls lacrosse team, coached by Joyce Jones, will open an 11-game schedule on Friday at Chatham Township. The home-opener for the Little Tigers will be Tuesday at 4 against Morristown.

The PHS girls track team, coached by Marc Anderson, will open its season on Tuesday at home against Hopewell Valley. Starting time is 3:45. The team will engage in nine dual meets this season.

SEASON TO OPEN

For PDS Lecrosse Team. The Princeton Day lacrosse team will open its season this Wednesday against Edison at home, embarking on a 15-game schedule that matches the Panthers against most of the toughest schools in the state.

division last year, because PDS had so thoroughly dominated the B level for several years. The Panthers finished with a fine 11-4 mark.

This year, Krueger sees his team more in the role of spoiler in the battle for the division playoffs. PDS is in the Pitt League. The top two teams in the Pitt and Fitch leagues qualify for the playoffs to determine tbe division champion.

Krueger's first task has been to replace the defense on last year's team, including goalie Lucky Pyne. Senior Doug Fine, the lone starter, is back, and will play alongside Ward Taggart, the top reserve last season, and Andy Jensen, who has been switched from midfield.

The starting goalie has not been determined, and will be the critical spot. "How well we develop at this position, will play a large part in the success of our season," Krueger observed.

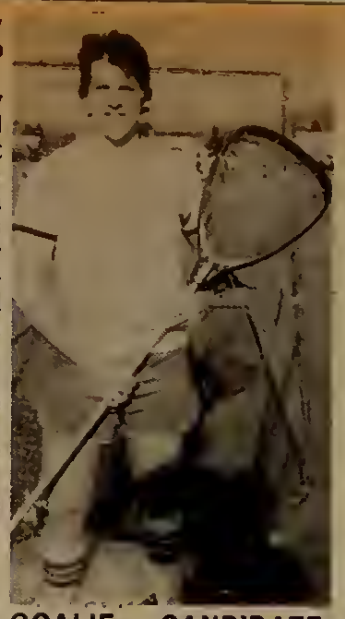
Two sophomores and one senior are vying for the starting spot in the nets. They are Jeff Olson, younger brother of Rob Olson, who just missed All-American honors last year as a midfielder, and Mike Soutwick, and senior Chris Horan.

The attack is ready to go with veteran holdovers, John Sweeney (in his fourth year) Mike Shannon and junior Tom von Oehsen. "We shouldn't have any trouble scoring, once we get the ball," said Krueger. "The question is how much will we be able to control it."

A good midfield is a key element in ball control, and here PDS received a blow last week when Neil Munroe suffered a broken hand in a pre-season scrimmage and is lost for the season. Krueger still has two veteran midfielders in Tim Murdoch and Kent Wilkinson, and sophomore Joe Warren will fill in for Munroe.

Reserve midfielders include sophomores John Drezner and Kevin Johnson and senior Chris Price.

Three scrimmages have produced three victories for the Panthers, 11-4 over Haverford, 13-2 over St. Joseph's, and 12-7 over Clifton. The regular season will provide sterner tests. After Edison, PDS will play Rutgers Prep at home Friday and Blair away a week from Wednesday. Summit will be the first league opponent Saturday, April 14.



GOALIE CANDIDATE: Senior Geoff Shipman is battling junior Mark Miller for the goalie's job on the Princeton High lacrosse team. he split the position last year with Ian Broadwater.

EIGHT-DAY WAIT

For PHS Lacrosse Team. Any momentum his team may have generated after its opening contest with Pingry this week may be lost, feels Princeton High lacrosse coach Bill Cirullo, by the time his team plays its second game.

The Little Tigers have an eight-day hiatus before they meet Peddie next Wednesday afternoon in Hightstown. Originally, Cinnaminson was scheduled in between but the South Jersey school dropped its lacrosse program.

"It's bad," agreed Cirullo. "You prepare for a month for your first game, get all keyed up and then have to wait that long before you play again." And an important pre-season scrimmage with Montclair Saturday indicated to Cirullo that his team is ready to go.

Cirullo had said earlier that Montclair, the state champion in high school lacrosse, would serve as a barometer of the Little Tigers' ability. "It was a great scrimmage, it was even the whole way," he said. Although PHS was edged, 6-4, Cirullo said he was pleased overall. "There was a lot of intensity. Both sides were very aggressive yet it was a very clean game."

Team Has Character. "I think I was most pleased that the team showed a little character," continued Cirullo. After Montclair jumped to a quick 2-0 lead, Cirullo called time to settle his inexperienced team. "It could have gone the other way," he said. "They could have collapsed but they didn't." The Little Tigers later tied the score at 3.

"We had them baffled. We really had them on the run at the end of the first half," recalled Cirullo. "They had a super goalie and we couldn't get the ball in the cage. We had six or seven shots in the last 15 seconds in the half and couldn't get one to go in."

Cirullo was especially pleased with the faceoff play of sophomore Steve McDonald. "He won about seventy percent of the faceoffs against Montclair," reported Cirullo, who said he has been searching for a faceoff player to replace Chris Cahill who had handled the job the previous three seasons.

"If there was a high point, that was it," said Cirullo. "McDonald has the components to do the job; it's just a matter of polishing."

Cirullo said that he was also pleased with the faceoff play of Jordon Paul, who is not as quick as McDonald but stronger. Jeff Baser, he said, looked good on attack, Tommy Bolster played an aggressive defensive game and John Forey displayed a lot of composure in scoring for the Little Tigers.

Bobby Cooke was a strong point on defense. Both Geoff Shipman and Mark Miller played well as goalie and Cirullo said he has a very tough decision to make on who will start. "Some clubs split them when they have two good goalies, but there are some disadvantages to that," he remarked.

NEW FIELDS ADDED

By Soccer Association. Construction of additional playing fields by the Nassau Soccer Association is expected to be completed in time for Saturday's opening of the spring program.

Three regulation-size fields will be added plus five smaller ones. The latter will be used by the first and second graders in the Bantam League and the third graders of the Cub League. They are located in the Fete Field area off Washington Road. Parents of players in these leagues are asked by the Association to drop off and pick up their children on the north side of these fields along the road nearest Carnegie Lake.

No more applicants for the Bantam League can be enrolled because the maximum number for each team in the league has been reached. Radio station WHWH will announce early Saturday mornings if the program that day is cancelled because of rain.

SAILING TO START

Sunday on Lake. Spring racing for Sunfish and Laser fleets will begin Sunday at 1:30. All participants, members of the Carnegie Sailing Club and those interested in joining should have their boats in the water -- at the dock -- near the juncture of Dodds Lane and the Kingston Road in time for the starting signal.

Officers of the Carnegie Sailing Club this year are Walt Gibson, commodore; Bob Holzman, vice-commodore; Rick Ober, rear commodore and treasurer; and Dan Mazzarella, secretary.

Those who enjoy sailing a small boat on Lake Carnegie; have an interest in enjoying the lake as a community recreational facility; and live in Princeton or the surrounding communities are invited to join the club. There are weekly races, a regatta, participation in fleet races with other clubs, a picnic in the spring and fall, and an opportunity to help repair the dock facitities, which will be done Saturday, April 14. Dues are $15 per year with an initiation fee of $10 for new members. For more information, call Walt Gibson at 921-8976.

OPENER ON TUESDAY

For PHS Track Team. When you have four returning lettermen and 13 events to fill you are rebuilding -- and hoping that the needed skills will be mastered as soon as possible.

That's the situation Marc Anderson is in as his Princeton High track team opens its season Tuesday at 4 at Hopewell Valley. The large number of untested Little Tigers will face the fire early, as Hopewell is the defending Colonial Valley champion and a slight favorite to repeat again. PHS finished a game behind Hopewell in the league and was 7-2 overall in 1978.

illusions about this year. Of 19 lettermen he lost 15, most to graduation but a few to other spring sports. His squad will be strong in some events, particularly the mile, two-mile and pole vault, but there are large gaps to fill in some field events and the hurdles.

Anderson, who has consistently kept the Little Tigers a contender year after year, says he has the talent. What he doesn't have now is the time to develop it. Noting how the team's strengths and weaknesses run in cycles, he observed, "It's just a matter of time."

Still, Anderson will be disappointed if his Little Tigers cannot play the role of spoiler during the season. "If we come around, we can have a pretty good season even with all the guys we lost," he said.

Ogilvie, Knudsen Captains. The team is co-captained by Mark Knudsen and Brad Ogilvie. A member of the All-Mercer County first team, Knudsen has cleared 13 feet in the vault while Ogilvie is the defending CVC champion in the half-mile.

The mile, two-mile and 880 should be three of the Little Tigers' strongest events. Junior John Kellogg is the premier mile and two-mile runner in the county. He is backed up by another junior, Tom Smart, a veteran, and junior Chip Garvey and sophomore Tom Patrick.

Princeton's domination in the half-mile will come from Olgivie, sophomore John Perkins, who will double as a quarter-miler, and two senior newcomers, Jean Snijders and Greg Kaderabek.

Perkins, Jeff Marshall, another senior newcomer, and Kaderabek are the leading quarter-milers, an event where Anderson admits he will have to experiment, while sophomore Paul Miles, a running back on the football team, and senior Andy Lesh are the top sprint candidates.

In both hurdle events, PHS will be inexperienced. Anderson is looking at David Kim, Bennett Raglin and senior newcomer Peter Sharpless for both the highs and 330 intermediates.

DISCUS THROWERS: Junior John Goeke (laft) and Gabe Sasso will compete this spring for the Princeton High track team.

Junior John Goeke returns at discus where he will be joined by senior Gabe Sasso, while in the shot, Eric Vieland returns. Goeke will also compete in the shot.

The field events are a mixed bag. Junior Rob Almgren joins Knudsen to give PHS a 1-2 performance in the vault but the javelin is as weak as the vault is strong. Anderson has no experience there.

Senior Dwight Bullock heads a list of four long jump contenders which includes juniors Bill Sapoch and Doug Ende and Marshall. In the high jump, again lack of any experience suggests that PHS will not collect many points there. Sharpless, out for the first time, and Ende are the top candidates.

FREE CLINIC SATURDAY

In Tennis. To launch the spring tennis season, the Princeton Community Tennis Program will offer a free tennis clinic Saturday from 10:30 to noon at the Community Park Courts.

It will feature station-teaching so participants can move from court to court depending upon which stroke they would like to improve – forehand, backhand, serve or volley. Tennis rackets will be provided for those who do not have equipment.

In addition, a last-serve contest will be held. Certificates will be awarded to all participants and prizes of free rackets and T-shirts will be given to the winners in four different categories.

For those in the third grade anxious to begin learning the game, a special court will be set aside under the direction of associate director John Zorzi. In attendance will be the Community Tennis teaching staff of Karen Bull, Joe Dieffenbach, Bill Humes and Zorzi.
